Take control of your own support the easy way, with shop4support.com!

shop4support.com is the new website that helps you live your life the way you want to, it's your life – so you should decide how you want to live it!

If you're not sure where to buy the products and services you or someone else needs for their care and support, you can find them at shop4support.com. Just like any shopping centre, shop4support.com is full of different stores – the only difference is, they're online, so you can shop from the comfort of your own computer.

From adapted products to personal assistants, domestic support to legal help, you can even find out about interesting activities in your area – maybe you're a fitness junkie? Wannabe artist? Or a budding actor?

Find the right support for you

shop4support.com couldn't be easier to use – you can search for the support and products that are right for you by matching them with your personal attributes, searching by key words and looking for products and services in your area, by postcode.

Have your say

It's important you get the service you deserve – you can ask store owners about their products and services before you buy, rate the level of service you receive and see what other people have to say about the things they've bought – and the people they've bought them from.

Access for everyone

Here at shop4support.com we hold feedback sessions with the people who matter most – that's you.
